

Ronald Lewis Glomski

Birth Place: Milwaukee, Wisconsin
Attended Grades and High Schools: Sheboygan, Wisconsin
Military Service: U.S. Air force 1954-1958
Military Schools: Electronics
Military Experience: Electronic Radar Specialist
Marital Status: Married, three children, two grandchildren
College Graduate: Western Kentucky University, 1963
Major Degrees: Chemistry and Mathematics
Place of Employment: The Dow Chemical Company
Positions Held: Sr. Technical Development Specialist, Group Leader, Research Manager, Sr. Research Manager, and Laboratory Director.
Key Areas of Expertise: Personnel Management, Product and Business Management Team Leadership and Intellectual Property Management Leader
Retired: The Dow Chemical Company 1995
Independent Consultant: New Product Development and Commercialization

Following retirement, I pursued a position as a member of the Arnold Center Board of directors and was accepted as a member of the Associate Board in 1997. Since then, I was assigned to the full board serving, for a period of time, as board secretary. Currently, I am a member of the executive/ governance committee and the board representative member on the strategic plan oversight committee.

My initial interest in the Arnold Center stems from the fact that an immediate family member with Autism is employed by this corporation. However my interest in serving this company is not based solely on my personal situation, but, with the desire to serve other people with disabilities. To this end, I catalyzed a group named SPRED at our Church to assist people with disabilities to experience the presence of GOD , to find comfort with others in their social domain, and to learn to serve others in need. For this work, I have received formal recognition from ARC. In terms of personal characteristic, I see myself as: a highly- organized, an outside of the box thinker, a big picture thinker with a penchant for delivering what I commit to doing. I enjoy leading people toward a common goal. I love music, numbers, space science and getting people motivated. I would like to be remembered as someone who cared about important issues and who stepped forward and tried to do something about resolving them.