

Rhonda Thomas

Rhonda has worked for The Dow Chemical Company since 2003 and is currently a Talent Acquisition Specialist, hiring great talent into Dow around North America.

A resident of Midland since 2007, Rhonda has been very active in helping people with disabilities achieve more in their personal and professional life for over two decades. She joined the Arnold Center board in 2008 and is also the co-chair of Dow's Midland chapter of the Disability Employee Network.

Her passion is volunteerism and she has volunteered with many organizations: Salvation Army, The Open Door, Habitat for Humanity, CAN Council, Disability Network of Mid-Michigan, Chippewa Nature Center, Thunder in the Valley and many others. In 2012, she was chosen by Dow as a Champion of Inclusion – a program that identifies employees that inspire those around them and break down the barriers in the workplace to foster an environment where everyone is valued.

Rhonda has one adult son, loves to read, kayak and travel in her spare time. She hopes to be able to support and provide domestic disaster relief services after she retires.
