Rights Officer

The Arnold Center, Inc. is committed to providing its customers quality service in environments that are healthy, safe and consistent with the freedoms and privileges expected of all community citizens. As a customer of the agency, you shall be treated with dignity and respect in accordance to the guidelines outlined in the Arnold Center, Inc. Participants Handbook and the Michigan Mental Health Code. The Arnold Center staff are responsible to protect your rights. You are encouraged to ask questions about your rights and to make suggestions that are in your best interest.

If you believe your rights have been violated, you, or someone on your behalf should immediately contact your rights officer/advisor and file a recipients rights complaint. Your advisor at the Arnold Center, Inc. Midland location is Karen Elledge, and at the Gladwin location is Deb McLendon. You may also contact Phyllis Kchodl at the Midland-Gladwin Community Mental Health Rights Office. The Rights Officer will investigate your claim, determine whether your rights have been violated, and recommend appropriate action to correct the violation. If you are not satisfied with the results of the investigation and the recommendations, you have the right to appeal the decision. The process for appeal is outlined in the agency's Participants Handbook and in the Mental Health booklet titled YOUR RIGHTS.

SELF ADVOCACY

TIPS

- Clearly express what your needs are
- Set realistic goals for what you want to achieve
- Get enough information to make informed choices
- If necessary, have an advocate, family member, or friend at meetings
- Know your rights - A successful self-advocate is informed – take the time to learn your rights. The Internet is a valuable source of information.
- Educate others- Sometimes discrimination is a result of sheer ignorance.
- Compromise - Compromise requires flexibility. Be willing to consider other forms of accommodations if your particular request cannot be granted.
- Compromise does not mean you should settle for less than you deserve.
